

Dr. Richard Shonk, MD, PhD

Chief Medical Officer

Dr. Shonk as as the Chief Medical Officer for The Health Collaborative is advancing payment reform, championing new uses for data to measure quality and is leading the health care quality improvement transformation initiatives in the Greater Cincinnati region.

Dr. Shonk leads the convening of payors and providers in the multi-stakeholder forum that conducts the CMMI Comprehensive Primary Care initiative. He also oversees the practice improvement component of the same initiative, guiding 75 local practices through the program milestones. Dr. Shonk leads Greater Cincinnati's efforts to create a regional data utility made up of claims and clinical data sources, and oversees the clinical data collection and public reporting on YourHealthMatters.org.

Dr. Shonk is also a member of the Governor's Task Force in Ohio for the State Innovation Model for health care. He also is Co-Chair of the Ohio Patient Centered Primary Care Council which promotes the advancement of The Patient Centered Medical Home efforts though out the state.