

Susie Dade, Washington Health Alliance

Susie Dade has worked in healthcare in Washington state for 37-years. Currently, as deputy director of the Washington Health Alliance, she is involved in virtually all aspects of the Alliance's work but has a particular focus on strategic planning, performance measurement and reporting, purchaser engagement in value-based purchasing, and provider performance improvement. Susie also served as the project director for the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Aligning Forces for Quality program in the Puget Sound area until it concluded in April 2015. From 1980 to 2005, Susie held several delivery system leadership and planning positions, including 16-years with Group

Health Cooperative.
