

CHRISTINE HELWIG AMY is the project director for Aligning Forces for Quality – South Central Pennsylvania and project coordinator for Healthy York County Coalition. She possesses more than 20 years experience in consumer advocacy, public relations and non-profit management. In prior roles, she served as the senior market director for the American Diabetes Association’s nine-county Central Pennsylvania office, customer development director for the York County Chamber of Commerce and development coordinator for rabbittransit, a local public transportation system. Chris holds a bachelor’s degree in Business from Penn State University.